

PENNIO

Brand architecture
and creative direction.
Selected work.

We build bold brands for Africa's next decade.

Identity, product and campaign work for founders who intend to be the category reference, not a participant in it. Strategy first, always, and a system built to survive contact with a real market.

01

Brand Architecture

Positioning, naming, identity systems and the guidelines that keep them intact after handover.

02

Web and Product

Sites and interfaces built from the identity rather than decorated with it. Designed and shipped.

03

Growth Creative

Campaign systems and content engines that hold the brand together across every placement.

Three a month

We take on three new projects a month. Not a tactic, a capacity limit. It is why the work in this document has the depth it has.

Strategy first

Every engagement opens with a strategy call before a proposal exists. If the brief and the business do not agree, we say so then, not at review.

Systems, not files

You leave with rules and reasoning, not a folder of exports. Every project here ships documented so the next person can hold the line.

Jójò Jewels

A fine jewellery house that needed to look owned rather than assembled, from the mark through to the box it ships in.

The identity system

JÓJÒ JEWELS

The mark is a ring read as a monogram. The two O counters carry a four-point sparkle, which gives the brand a detail small enough to emboss on a clasp and bold enough to run at billboard scale.

ANCHOR 02, BRAND ARCHITECTURE

Tabitha House

Two product lines, Crafts and Fragrance, under one house. They had to read as siblings without either one becoming the junior.

SCOPE

Identity architecture,
lockups

DELIVERED

Six-file lockup kit

The lockup matrix

Two lines, two orientations, positive and reversed. Six files in the kit.

Research into system

MONEY IN THE AIR

01 Written research first

A documented read of the audience and the category before a single mark was drawn.

02 A system, not a logo

Mark, palette, type and usage rules shipped as a guidelines document the client still runs from.

03 Proved in placement

Tested against real surfaces, from a business card up to outdoor, before sign-off.

Built to its own rules

The PENNIO mark is a P cut from a single continuous stroke on a circular grid. The counter is not decoration, it is the aperture the whole system is measured from.

We are last in this deck for a reason. The method you have just seen applied to ten brands was tested on ours first.
